October 11, 2022

MVMS Parents and Guardians,

I want to take a moment and remind all parents and guardians that our MVMS Fall Parent Night is this Wednesday, October 12, 2022 from 5:00 p.m. to 7:00 p.m. at Mountain View Middle School. This is a great time for parents to pick up a progress report and meet their students' teachers. We will be serving hot chili and cinnamon rolls (until we run out) to our MVMS families.

Our intention with our parent teacher conference is to have your student take the lead in this discussion. Your student has everything they need to discuss their mid-term grades, classwork, tests, and quizzes. Teachers are there to help answer any questions or concerns. Because there is a limited amount of time on parent night, we are asking parents if they need more time to discuss their needs to please schedule an appointment with that teacher. We will do our best to help with any need, concern, and questions you may have.

Here are a few things to ask your student during each conference.

1. Ask your student to show you their grade sheet. This sheet is a summary of all of the assignments included in the mid-term grade.
2. Ask your student about the curriculum. Ask them how google classroom works and how they find their assignments. We work from iPads in class.
3. Ask your student what they are currently working on in each class.
4. Ask your student what it is that they are struggling with in class. Do they know how they can do better? What do they need to do more of to be successful in class?

We can't wait to see you at Parent Night.

Sincerely,

MVMS Administration
